Successful DAS Federal Integrated Delivery Approach

DAS Federal's Past Performance with Low-Code/No-Code

DAS Federal developed an IT Automation Portal and Automated Data Call System utilizing Low-Code/No-Code saving the FDA valuable resources. These systems were developed with quick 8-12 week sprints and allowed users autonomous access to FDA Enterprise resources, saving close to 90% of time for the users.

DAS Federal developed a corporate, custom application with workflow and Low-Code/No-Code platform in record time, which has benefited our corporate Business Development Department.

The custom application increased the Corporate pipeline by over $100M. The savings in time is twofold: reduced development time and savings in time spent by business users. Users can utilize one application instead of multiple systems to gather their needed information. This enables them to focus on strategic business needs.

"The Application Developed by our corporate office has increased our pipeline by over $100M. This application also enables my team to spend less time gathering information from multiple locations. We quickly moved from queued to real-time digital operations. Our development team did an excellent job getting this application ready in record time!"

PARTNERS / SPECIALIZATIONS

Why Low-Code/No-Code?

Application development has never been this easy. With Low-Code/No-Code we can develop applications and automate processes faster than ever.

Low-Code/No-Code provides a service model that defines, structures, and automates the flow of work, removing email and spreadsheets from the process to streamline the delivery of services.

Workflow

Platform as a Service (PaaS) exists everywhere and at the same time and is accessible to users via "Instances".

With our team of experts and their capability of Low-Code/No-Code development, we eliminate the need for extended development time. This allows DAS Federal to develop applications in record time.

IMPLEMENTATION AND UPGRADES

WE UNDERSTAND... when it comes to Low-Code/No-Code implementations, finding the right balance between business and technical experience can be quite a challenge. Our consultants have a unique capability to help clients harness both standard and advanced functionality to meet specific business requirements. They maintain a keen focus on quality assurance, risk management, knowledge transfer, and process simplification. This practical, pragmatic approach addresses both cost saving and optimization without compromising quality.

WE PLAN... carefully to ensure the functional capability of the software is maximized, extraneous complexity is avoided, critical process and data elements are not lost in transition, and relevant user and application support are in place to ensure sustainable solutions that drive value.
